RE: Redmond City Council Vacancy Appointment

To Mayor George Endicott and City Councilors,

When I moved to Redmond in 2010, I immediately immersed myself in the local community, running for a School Board Seat (Sheriff Shane Nelson Beat me by .25 points!) I also began exploring bringing a Children's Museum to Redmond. This is when I met Jon Stark and Heather Richards and began forming a network of support for my ideas regarding children and families in the community. As the parent of 6 children, I am an advocate of the School District and as the Executive Director of a local non-profit, I am also well connected to the local business community. I have built relationships with some of the most generous and successful business owners in the county. I have the support of both Jack Zika and Tony DeBone in my quest for this seat.

It was my mission to help our community see that providing a safe and enriching place for the youth of our community was more than a Social Service, but of great value to our local economic development. I believe that childcare is now viewed as a vital component of a thriving economy.

Prior to my role at REACH, I have over a decade of experience in manufacturing and importing. I was responsible for direct sales from our manufacturing plants in Malaysia and Indonesia to our wholesale customers all over the United States. I managed the private label program for companies such as Purdy Brush and Costco. I also supervised our local manufacturing of roller covers and managed the production of painting kits that were sold at hundreds of Kroger, Lowes, Home Depot and Bi-Mart locations.

This experience is balanced by years of work for Portland Public Schools as a one on one assistant for students with Special Needs. This was in the early 90's, before the concept of inclusion was well supported in our region. This was a valuable learning experience in regards to politics and emerging policy.

I believe that I have the experience, values and balanced perspective to be able to advocate for a strong City of Redmond. I ask a lot of questions and I know how to make decisions to reflect the best interest of the community as a whole. I take the responsibility of my role very seriously and I have the humility to be able to put personal needs or feelings aside for the greater good. My communication style is respectful, inquisitive, thorough and direct.

I understand that at present, I am unable to serve on City Council due to the fact that I do not have the required 12 months living within the City limits. However, I am not new to the community. I lived within 2 blocks of the City Limits for over a decade. I am supported by individuals who align themselves with both the viewpoints of the "right" and "left". I feel that this is exactly the kind of voice that would fit well with the current personalities on Council. I can look at the immediate and long-term implications of issues from a community first perspective. I am willing to change my mind with new information and also able to admit when I am wrong. If Council is willing to hold appointment until February 2022, I will engage in meetings and participate to ensure that I am up to speed on current events and issues so that I can hit the ground running in February. I feel that waiting for the right candidate has value. Please consider holding appointment until February 2022.

Thanks you for considering this request. I look forward to working with each of you in some capacity in the future.

Jenny McKenzie

Are you a registered voter in Deschutes County? Yes

What reasons do you have for wanting to be a member of the City Council?

After years of serving on the Downtown Urban Renewal Advisory Committee, I believe I have a clear understanding on the duties and commitment required of an effective City Councilor. Through my leadership roles, I have a proven performance record of advocating in the public best interest with integrity and sound judgement while collaborating with community leaders, residents, and businesses. In these roles, we were able to complete projects that directly benefited our city. These include, but are not limited to, increased downtown parking, the addition of workforce housing to the downtown core, and providing financial support that led to the direct success of dozens of local businesses. I would like to continue my service to Redmond, OR. I believe service is the best way to give back, and also an opportunity to be an active participant in the success and growth of our city. I am a skilled communicator and collaborator; both being traits that are necessary for an effective governing body. Please consider my request for appointment to Redmond City Council.

Paul B. McGinnis

What reasons do you have for wanting to be a member of City Council?

My main reason is simply service to my community. I feel Redmond is rapidly transforming into a larger city from a small town. Trying to maintain the qualities of a small town while providing the infrastructure and public safety resources to support more population is a balancing act that requires strategic thinking and rational analysis of options. I have those skills.

I do not have any conflicts of interest. I do not have business interests in Redmond. I do not have children in Redmond. No axe to grind at all. I just want to use my knowledge to help Redmond become the best it can be.

Brief outline of experiences and occupations.

I understand governance and municipal government. Throughout my 38 year career in rural health I have interacted with county commissions, districts as well as the legislature. I have help established Health Districts throughout Oregon and have trained those elected officials about their individual Duty of Due Care and Duty of Loyalty responsibilities as well as what the entire District Board is responsible for. I have assisted in evaluation of the CEO and helped the Boards conduct self-evaluation. I have a Masters in Public Administration and a BS in Community Development. I have written policy papers that led to legislation, conducted peer reviewed research and focused on involving the community in participating in decision making that impacts them directly.

I have served on the Clackamas County Traffic Safety Commission and understand how road design engineering and traffic calming devices help with keeping traffic moving but doing so safely. Of course, consistent enforcement is needed as well.

I would not add diversity to the Council. However, I have worked with underserved communities and people in poverty throughout my career. I understand Social Determinants of Health (Housing, Transportation, Food, Child Care, Built Environment) and how that impacts people of color and those without money.

What reasons do you have for wanting to be a member of the City Council:

Over the past 30 years of ministry, I have endeavored to strongly serve my community in a pastoral capacity. Although now retired, that same passion is still present and active... maybe more than ever. Moving home to Oregon and settling in Redmond (an area where I grew up hunting, fishing and camping as a youth), has been a dream fulfilled. That said, I desire to be a constructive and active voice in the community and be available to roll up my sleeves and go to work. I believe that good governance comes only through a keen listening ear to those you represent, a commitment to servant leadership, a willingness to at times take calculated risks and the drive to work hard.

Rather than just talk about our community, I am ready to take an active role by throwing my hat in the ring for the Redmond City Council

Brief Outline of Experience and Occupations:

Ron Brown was born and raised in Dallas Oregon as the son of an electrician and 25-year volunteer fire fighter. He was married to his wife Debra in 1975 while completing his undergraduate work at Oregon State University. After working in the timber business for a number of years, Ron when back to Bible College to launch over 30 years of full-time ministry. Ron served in various pastoral roles in the USA and as a missionary to Mexico, New Zealand and Papua New Guinea. Ron served as the CEO for City Mission PNG for just short of six years.

Retiring in 2019, Ron and Debra moved home to Oregon in the spring of 2020, purchasing a home in Redmond. Ron currently serves with the Central Oregon Public Safety Chaplaincy working with first responders in the northern portion of Deschutes County.

Thot that these three articles sort of made a trio as the two previus articles I sent wegea twin! Perhaps you saw them in the Bulletin;but i doubt it!

Portland pledges 38 million to Address the Homeless Crisis.

- 1) The crisis has been developing for over 10 years--Better late than never!
 - 2)Currently County has 1750 shelters to house 2000 homeless;at 2019 count.With the 400 they propose;it would seem that they are on top of the situation!--38 Million should provide 400 beds OK!

The Scene on Hunnell Road is worth a thousand words!

90 tents and campers!SEEMS THAT YOU NEED ALOT MORE CASH INFUSION INTO PROGRAMS as I said in last communication;and Chang seemed to agree;when he stood up for the recent million;as a help to some homeless programs;and it was voted otherwise.(Guest column in the Bulletin!)

PORTLAND HAS A LONG WAY TO GO TO REPAIR IYS REPUTATION!

1)Self Explanatory!

2)Surprised that Portland can put 38 million(most of the money from a windfall ~~from a windfall~~ of city and county taxes collect-ed) TOWARD 2009 HOMELESS (2019)count?????

Once you start to slide it is rather tough to recover;witness the state of national journalism in a state of disaray!!!

Officials pledge $38M to address Portland homeless crisis

BY SARA CLINE

Associated Press/Report for America
Portland and Multnomah County leaders announced Monday that nearly $40 million is being allocated to address the city's ongoing homeless crisis.

The investments will go toward creating 400 more shelter beds, increasing the number of outreach workers, expanding behavioral health services and funding community cleanup programs. We didn't get here overnight. The houseless crisis has been chipping away at the soul for over a decade,"

Portland City Commissioner Dan Ryan said at a news conference on Monday.

"There's zero denial about the impact of this crisis on our street and (that) it's having on our city."

Portland, like other major cities, is in the midst of a homeless crisis that has been exacerbated by the pandemic. Residents, advocates, businesses and organizations have urged the city to do more to address the issue — in the form of additional housing, mental health resources, cleanups and increased public safety.

"Anyone who's traveled Portland's streets knows that our city is overwhelmed by unsanctioned encampments that often pose health and safety and environmental risks to those who, not only live within them, but also to those businesses and neighborhoods that live immediately adjacent," Portland Mayor Ted Wheeler said.

But after announcing the shared $38 million spending package — made possible by an unforeseen windfall in revenue, primarily from business taxes collected by the city and county — leaders are optimistic they can help more of Portland's residents who are experiencing homelessness.

Officials say that nearly half of the spending package will be used to buy or lease property to create hundreds of additional shelter beds citywide. Currently the county has about 1,750 shelter beds and motel rooms, which can serve up to about 2,000 people. The county's 2019 point-in-time count — a yearly census, of sorts, of the homeless population — indicated 4,015 people were experiencing homelessness, with half of those individuals "unsheltered" or sleeping outside.

City clearing Hunnell Road trash ahead of snow

Vehicles drive along Hunnell Road on the north side of Bend Wednesday. Homeless residents living along the road are being asked to clean up their areas by Friday to allow space for snowplows to operate safely during this winter.

Portland has a 'long way to go' to repair its reputation

BY SARA CLINE

Associated Press/Report for America
PORTLAND — Portland's "badly damaged" reputation — marked by months of destructive protests, a homeless crisis and record year of homicides — is hurting the standing of Oregon's largest city, according to the city's main tourism promoter.

Travel Portland, the city's tourism promotion group, recently funded by taxes, presented data to the City Council mayor this week showing the city has declined to its "lowest levels" of being a likely destination for delegates to end conferences. Just 64% surveyed tourists said they would visit Portland again.

"There's an old, old saying, 'It takes a lifetime to build a reputation and you can ruin it in an instant.' That's true of cities, as it is people," Portland Mayor Ted Wheeler said in response to Travel Portland data. "And we're just going to have to commit to that long term process of improving the safety and livability and the economic prosperity of the city."

The liberal city had long been known nationally for its brosier food scene, craft breweries and nature-loving waters. But last year, it became the epicenter of racial ice protests following the Travel Portland presented data collected by MM/GY Travel Intelligence. The travel research and consulting company asked people how likely they are to attend a meeting, conference or convention — either for business or leisure purposes — in Portland in the next 24 months. The question was asked about 21 different destinations, and Portland was "toward the bottom" of the list.

The survey showed that half of event planners and two-thirds of attendees surveyed recently indicated that their "likelihood" to book or attend meetings in the city over the next two years was heavily influenced by the "visibility" of racial and social protests.

"The impact of this is that sented an improvement from earlier this year, the level was lower than surveys conducted before the pandemic and the protests.

Portland's central city hotel occupancy rate has improved since the start of the pandemic, but Miller said the number of hotel rooms booked in September lags behind 14 competing visitor cities that Travel Portland tracks except Minneapolis and San Francisco.

"Recovery is happening elsewhere, just not here," Miller said.

Portland is in the midst of a homeless crisis that local businesses, organizations and residents are urging the city to do something about — in the form of additional housing, mental health resources, cleanups and increased public safety.

At a recent City Council meeting, workers in a Portland neighborhood with many medical services buildings spoke about their experience that staff and patients endure because of a large nearby homeless encampment.

"The first thing that they see is garbage, RVs and tents blocking our sidewalks and discarded drug paraphernalia," said Sonia Bouchard, the director of operations at the Oregon Clinic Gastroenterology East at Gateway. "They're often yelled income cases threatened."

Employees often witness erratic behavior, fights, nudity at drug use, she said. Patients he told staff that they feel unsafe and some have decided to switch doctors.

"We've added fencing and security," said Dr. Harry Bray. "We feel at this point, we're unable to make things better and we need your help. The spiraling homelessness has already impacted major events in the city.

Over the summer, the largest annual golf event relocated from Portland to the site's proximity to a long encampment of homeless people to the farflung suburbs of West Linn.

PRESENTATIONS

A. LED Streetlight Conversion Presentation by Ameresco

Public Works Director Bill Duerden highlighted portions of the Staff report, noting that most city streetlights are owned by utility providers and the City pays a flat fee for their operation and maintenance. In early 2021, Pacific Power introduced a new and lower rate to incentivize customer-funded LED streetlight conversion projects. Staff is seeking general direction from Council on whether to pursue a conversion project. If directed to move forward, the next step will be to conduct an audit and feasibility study estimated to cost approximately $25,000 to $30,000.

Ameresco Business Development Executive Joe Mankiewicz presented the Council with a PowerPoint highlighting their work experience in Redmond and throughout the Northwest, their unique benefits, and specific considerations for the City of Redmond's streetlight conversion and ongoing maintenance program. Mr. Mankiewicz noted that Central Electric Cooperative owns some of the streetlights in Redmond, so Ameresco would work with them as well, if the project moves forward. Currently, the City spends approximately $200,000 for streetlights. After the conversion, Ameresco estimates a savings of approximately $70,000 annual with an expected eight-year payback period. The financial arrangement would be between Ameresco and the City through an Energy as a Service (EaaS) contract that also addresses the technical delivery of services. He noted the differences between the EaaS and the energy savings performance contract the City had previously with Ameresco noting that because the City does not own its streetlights, a bank loan cannot be obtained. Due to Ameresco's unique relationship with Pacific Power, Ameresco is being permitted to front the capital to the City on a promise of key performance indicators.

Mr. Mankiewicz reviewed next steps adding that Ameresco could be selected from a list of prequalified energy service companies or the City could do Request for Qualifications; however, Ameresco is the only company qualified to respond specifically to a Pacific Power streetlight conversion. If selected, Ameresco will present a proposal for approximately $26,000 for basic design and to audit all 1,100 streetlights.

Mr. Duerden and Mr. Mankiewicz addressed questions on why the City will be charged a higher rate if Pacific Power saves money by replacing a sodium vapor light with an LED, whether the City has reached the savings phase yet on the initial project with Ameresco, the life expectancy of LED lights. In response to questions sent via email about Dark Skies, Mr. Mankiewicz shared before and after photos of Renton, Washington, where Ameresco converted the streetlights. The photos demonstrated a significant reduction in the night sky glow using LEDs.

The consensus of the Council was to have Staff move forward with Ameresco on the streetlight conversion and see what the audit reveals. Mr. Mankiewicz noted Ameresco could address the color temperature of the lights during the design process.

B. Central Oregon Intergovernmental Council Update #1: Housing and Transit

Central Oregon Intergovernmental Council (COIC) Executive Director Tammy Baney and COIC Community and Economic Development Director Scott Aycock presented an update and overview of their organization and described their five core service areas, as well as the projects and programs implemented within each core service area. Key projects specific to Redmond included:

- A deviated/flex route service that will launch in the summer of 2022, in addition to dial-a-ride services, and be implemented in northwest and southeast Redmond. The routes will begin and end at the transit hub by Fred Meyer and serve major destinations, including the Redmond Airport, COCC Campus, Redmond Proficiency Academy, Centennial Park, Bi-Mart, the Redmond Senior Center, St. Charles, Walmart, and Redmond High School.
- A phased approach to expand transit services in Redmond over the next 5 to 10 years with four deviated flex routes supplemented by micro-transit services. Buses would get smaller, and services would get nimbler in order to meet the community's needs in a more on-demand type of service. Eventually the hope is to have a full fixed-route system with the complementary ADA para-transit as well as dial-a-ride services.
- The Housing Needs Assessment completed a couple years ago revealed the need to strengthen the capacity around the Homeless Leadership Coalition (HLC), which is the continuum of care for the region. COIC wants to support the Coalition by possibly being its fiscal sponsor alongside a strong partnership with NeighborImpact.
- A three-year pilot for a Regional Housing Council (RHC), funded by Central Oregon Health Council, to connect all housing service providers, developers, etc. with elected officials for broader thinking about housing rather than focusing on one community at a time. The RHC will provide a forum for all housing stakeholders and local governments in Central Oregon to share best practices, identify gaps in programs, etc. and when appropriate, act as one regional voice in Salem or Washington DC.

COIC would like to meet with an interested Councilor as well as a staff person to understand their interests and concerns. The intent is for the RHC to complement existing efforts and not serve as a regulatory body.

Councilor Clark-Endicott commented on a presentation from Dr. Barbara Odom-Wesley from Arlington, Texas. Prior to COVID, Arlington created the Via transit service similar to Uber or Lyft, but operated as a public/private partnership. In response to Councilor Clark-Endicott, Ms. Baney confirmed this is the direction COIC wants to go, but since there is still a need for fixed routes and the ability to take larger groups of individuals throughout communities, it will not apply to all services. She predicts a hybrid-type of transit service would emerge in the future.

Mayor Endicott noted that anyone interested in volunteering to be the elected official on the RHC should contact City Manager Keith Witcosky.

C. Central Oregon Intergovernmental Council Update #2: Central Oregon Regional Training Complex

COIC Resilience Planner Shelby Knight presented an overview of the Central Oregon Regional Emergency Services Training and Coordination Center (RESTCC) noting that Redmond and the Redmond Airport will serve as the primary incident support base for statewide rescue and recovery operations for the Pacific Northwest in the event of a natural disaster, wildfires or the anticipated Cascadia subduction zone event. She highlighted background of the project, needs, steering committee representation, and the short- and long-term vision of the proposed RESTCC. The Central Oregon Ready, Responsive, and Resilient (CORE3) facility was envisioned to meet the identified needs for a dedicated multi-disciplinary, multi-agency coordination center and backup 911 center for coordinating response and recovery efforts. CORE3 will also meet sustained and future mandatory training needs for public safety and emergency personnel. The flexible, multi-use space will house a multi-agency coordination center, a training facility for public safety personnel, and will support Central Oregon Community College's Wildland Structural Fire and other related programs. Phase 1 of the project addresses high priority needs and includes the emergency coordination center, flexible classrooms, and a few key priority training opportunities the team has identified. Phase 1 is currently scoped at approximately $25 million, but the phase is scalable, depending on the needs and available funding.

Mr. Aycock displayed conceptual site plans for the entire project, noting the master plan is part of next steps. He noted the proposed 300-acre site is located just north of the Redmond Airport on property owned by Deschutes County and formerly used by the Rod and Gun Club. COIC will ask the Deschutes County Commissioners to consider a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) stipulating they reserve 300 acres of the County's property for this use. Once committed to by Deschutes County, COIC will begin the land use process and ask all partners to sign a MOU regarding the capital funding. COIC hopes to break ground on the project in 30 to 36 months. At this time, COIC is requesting that the Council consider signing the MOU and provide any guidance for an efficient land use process with the County.

Mayor Endicott noted the site was selected due to its close proximity to a current federal facility. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has indicated that if a Cascadia event were to occur, it will likely use the Forest Service Emergency Operations Center for FEMA's emergency operations center. Local counties and cities will need a facility to coordinate their activities along with the federal operations.

Councilor Clark-Endicott shared that the Tualatin Valley Fire District has a large training center in Tigard with an additional satellite office between Wilsonville and Sherwood. The training facility was designed for large natural disasters and can coordinate emergency efforts for the entire Portland metropolitan area. Oregon's national representatives throughout the Willamette Valley agree that because of the airport, Redmond will be the emergency center for the State of Oregon during a natural disaster.

The Council directed Mr. Witcosky to pursue an MOU with COIC.

Regarding housing in Item B above, Mr. Witcosky asked the Council to consider whether a regional forum, to discuss how to deal with the housing crisis, is needed and added that COIC could help with the forum.

D. Deschutes County Library Design Update: Todd Dunkelberg and Team

Deschutes County Library Director Todd Dunkelberg introduced their architect team, noting many project updates had been made since the team's last presentation to Council.

Miller Hull's Mat Albores indicated the conceptual design has been completed and is now entering the schematic design phase. Mr. Albores highlighted the project's anticipated timeline, noting construction is expected to begin in October with completion of the project in 2024.

Miller Hull's Ruth Baleiko stated the team built upon prior work from the bond measure campaign and the robust engagement process. Key elements used to achieve the project's design goals included accentuating the site and its surrounding features, creating elements such as an outdoor patio public/civic space for library events, and a drive-up service window. Ms. Baleiko shared various building perspectives, elevations, and floorplans and discussed the various types of materials that would be used to create an inviting look appropriate for Redmond's past and future.

Ms. Baleiko addressed questions on a southern entry and parking, while Mr. Dunkelberg focused on meetings with the Historic Landmarks Commission, and challenges with the existing structure. The owner's representative Greg Holcomb stated their general contractor and independent cost estimator are preparing cost estimates on the District's entire bond program, including the Redmond library. The process will continue throughout November with a full reconciliation of the bond budget in December. Regarding a temporary library, Mr. Holcomb shared they want to have a new location in place roughly two months prior to demolition; location of a site will start in January 2022 and be ready by the end of 2022.

Mr. Dunkelburg noted that proposed plans and videos can be found on the library's website and people can also provide comments there as well. Mayor Endicott asked Mr. Witcosky to add that link to the City's website.

ORDINANCES

A. Ordinance #2021-10 – An ordinance amending the Redmond City Code Chapter 5 Sections 5.250 through 5.290 pertaining to animals.

Captain Lewis requested approval of Ordinance #2021-10 which modernizes and refines Sections 5.250-5.290 of the City Code. He reviewed the proposed changes noting there is no fiscal impact from the amendments.

Councilor Bullock moved, seconded by Councilor Clark Endicott, to have a first and second reading of Ordinance #2021-10 by title only, motion passed. (Bullock-yes, Clark-Endicott-yes, Endicott-yes, Evelyn-yes, Fitch-yes, Patrick-yes, Wedding-yes)

City Attorney Keith Leitz read the first and second reading of Ord. #2021-10 by title only.

Councilor Bullock moved, seconded by Councilor Clark-Endicott, to approve Ordinance #2021-10, motion passed. (ROLL CALL: Bullock-yes, Clark-Endicott-yes, Endicott-yes, Evelyn-yes, Fitch-yes, Patrick-yes, Wedding-yes)

ACTION ITEMS

A. Resolution #2021-33 – A resolution of the City of Redmond to make budget adjustments.

Captain Lewis requested approval of Resolution #2021-33 which requests a net zero budget adjustment for two lateral Police officers. Due to COVID complications, the officers will start in January 2022, rather than in July 2022. He highlighted the number of current sworn officers compared to Redmond's population growth, as well as the typical call response durations for officers on routine shifts. Unlike a new officer, which requires 8 to 10 months of training, a lateral officer is already certified and only requires 8 to 10 weeks of training to become oriented to the department's operations. Two lateral officers have already been identified and can start by January. He noted the cost savings in the department's current budget would absorb the cost of the two officers, which is approximately $148,000 for half a year.

Councilor Fitch moved, seconded by Councilor Evelyn, to adopt Resolution #2021-33, adding two additional police officer FTE positions to the Fiscal Year 2021/22 budget using cost savings within the existing budget, motion passed. (Bullock-yes, Clark-Endicott-yes, Endicott-yes, Evelyn-yes, Fitch-yes, Patrick-yes, Wedding-yes)

B. City Donation of a 1914 Colt 1911 to the Maryland Museum of Military History

Lieutenant Petersen requested approval to donate a 1914 Colt 1911 to the Maryland Museum of Military History. The firearm, which was reported stolen in 1994, was recovered in 2018 by the Redmond Police Department and placed into evidence. The owner of the firearm had since passed away, so the insurance company released interest of the firearm to the Police Department. Given the firearm's significant historical background, the Maryland Museum is interested in displaying it publicly in their Museum of Military History located in the 5th Regiment Armory where the firearm was originally shipped over a century ago.

Councilor Clark-Endicott moved, seconded by Councilor Patrick, to approve the donation of the 1914 Colt 1911 bearing Serial Number 69593 to the Maryland Museum of Military History, motion passed. (Bullock-yes, Clark-Endicott-yes, Endicott-yes, Evelyn-yes, Fitch-yes, Patrick-yes, Wedding-yes)

STAFF REPORT

DATE: December 14, 2021
TO: Redmond City Council
THROUGH: Keith Witcosky, City Manager
Heather Cassaro, Communications Director
FROM: Matt Hayes, IT Manager
SUBJECT: Authorize 3-year expenditure for Information Technology Backup System and Disaster Recovery - StorageCraft/Veeam/iland - $127,632

Addresses Council Goal:

1A. SUSTAIN OPERATIONS: Provide critical and necessary services for the entire City.
1B-iv. SUSTAIN OPERATIONS: Seek and achieve efficiencies through the acquisition and implementation of new technologies.

Report in Brief:

This item requests City Council accept the terms on the TIG quote for Storage Craft, Veeam, and iland (Quote #066900) allowing for the purchase of a Storage Craft backup appliance, Veeam backup and replication software, and agree to a 3-year service period with iland as the offsite backup location and Disaster Recovery (DR) platform.

Background:

The City of Redmond Information Technology (IT) Department is responsible for backup and recovery of the City's data. The current system (Dell appliance w/ Quest Rapid Recovery software) was originally sold to the City by Dell Software. Dell Software was acquired by Quest Software shortly after our purchase, and they soon discontinued the sale of Dell hardware appliances, which is what we purchased. The City's current Backup system warranty and software support expired in October 2021. The storage space available is currently nearing 80% of capacity, which causes us to fall short of our retention requirements on some of our critical servers. Since purchasing our Dell/Quest system, our server environment has transitioned from 100% physical servers to around 50% physical and 50% virtual servers.

Our existing backup strategy is to have an on-site copy of all our data and an off-site replication of the same data. The offsite copy is at another location in Redmond.

Discussion:

While our current backup strategy and system will suffice in the more traditional use cases (accidental deletion of files, file corruption, system failure, fire, etc.), the strategy and system both lack in areas of security, regulatory compliance, performance, and guaranteeing the integrity of our data. In the event of a disaster (fire, flood, cybersecurity, etc.), our current configuration does not guarantee we will have a usable system without extensive downtime, and it does not offer modern protection against many modern cyber threats, such as ransomware.

When planning for our backup system replacement, we looked for a cost-effective appliance to host local backups, a cloud-based secondary replication target that meets regulatory compliance needs (i.e.: Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS)), modern software to manage replication and retention, and a cloud-based DR platform that allows us to scale with the City's future adoption of DR. We required each component of the solution to be compatible, have an intuitive interface, and be secure by design.

BACKUP vs. DISASTER RECOVERY (DR):

Backup – The copying of data into a secondary location, which can be used to recover the original file or system in the event of a disaster event.

Disaster Recovery (DR) - A strategic security planning model that aims to maintain critical functions before, during, and after a disaster event, thereby causing minimal disruption to business continuity. This is an emergency failover.

We assessed the city's current critical function needs and utilized technology partner Technology Integration Group (TIG) to research suitable DR solutions which also allowed for scalability. Based on our criteria, we narrowed our search to three backup solutions (Storage Craft/Veeam, Dell, and Unitrends). We attended multiple demonstrations, Q&A sessions, and fine-tuned our quotes for the most suitable on-site backup systems. We then assessed each of the cloud-based storage options best suited for each of the on-site backup solutions (iland, Microsoft Azure, and Unitrends). This gave us a comprehensive comparison of three completely different solutions with three different cloud-storage options. We ruled out Unitrends due to the price of their cloud and their cloud not being compliant with our CJIS requirements. The feature sets with Dell's solution were extensive, but their platform was not intuitive, and the licensing was extremely complex when you add a cloud-based secondary backup location. The price and complexity of their licensing, and the price of the Azure GovCloud were not attractive. The StorageCraft/Veeam solution is extremely easy to manage, built-in security gives peace of mind, and it is very cost effective. The iland cloud meets our CJIS requirements, their pricing model is easily understood, and they offered us an affordable way to ease our way into a DR platform where this was just too expensive with the competitors. The StorageCraft/Veeam/iland solution will make for a reliable and easy to use solution for the City of Redmond's IT department to manage our data backups and DR.

The hardware (StorageCraft) and software (Veeam) support have a 5-year warranty and support agreement included with their purchase. The iland cloud pricing for cloud storage and DR requires a 3-year agreement and turns into annual renewals after that. The cloud storage and DR pricing is based on usage (Gigabytes). The annual estimate is based on an annual usage of 60TB of backup storage and 3TB of DR storage. The backup storage estimate allows for our growth from the start until we reach our retention period of 6-months and allows for growth over the 36-month period. The first 6-months to 1 year will begin at a lower rate until we grow our backup data to reach our retention period (approximately 6-months). Beyond that, it will scale upward with our data growth and as our adoption of DR grows over time.

The following quotes are based on 5-year cost for ease of viewing comparison:

StorageCraft/Veeam/iland	5-year hardware and software 60TB cloud storage and 3TB DR	$166,146.49 – 5-year cost Cloud price includes storage and DR of VM servers
Dell IDPA/Azure GovCloud	5-year hardware and software 60TB cloud storage	$324,434.64 – 5-year cost Licensing is complex and expensive. Azure Cloud is 2.6x the price of iland w/out DR
Unitrends/Unitrends Cloud	5-year hardware and software 35TB cloud storage	$452,721.92 – 5-year cost Cloud is not CJIS compliant. Cloud is 6x the price of iland without DR

Fiscal Impact:

The total estimated price of this item will be a total of $127,1632 over the course of the 3-year contract (includes hardware with a 5 year lifespan).

The Fiscal Year (FY) 2021/22 budget includes $110,000 for Backup and Disaster funds (Information Technology Sub-Fund: Capital Machinery and Equipment, Contractual Services, Software Maintenance, and Software Licenses funds).

The FY 2021/22 expenditure for this item will be approximately $89,119 which includes:

- $35,613 for one-time purchase of the StorageCraft Appliance
- $19,789 for one-time purchase of the Veeam software
- $14,460 for one-time contracted services for set-up
- $19,257 for annual service (36-month service term begins January 1, 2022).

The following four fiscal years (FY 2022/23 - 2025/26) will be approximately $19,257 per year for this item.

Alternative Courses of Action:

1. Accept the terms of the TIG quote for Storage Craft, Veeam, and iland (Quote #066900) allowing for the purchase of a StorageCraft appliance, Veeam software, and agree to a 3-year service period for iland as the cloud storage provider and DR platform.
2. Request more information.

3. Do not accept the terms of the TIG quote for Storage Craft, Veeam, and iland (Quote #066900).

Recommendation / Suggested Motion:

"I move to accept the TIG quote terms and proceed with the purchase of the Backup and Disaster Recovery system."

STAFF REPORT

DATE: December 14, 2021
TO: City Council
THROUGH: Keith Witcosky, City Manager
FROM: John Roberts, Deputy City Manager
SUBJECT: Amendment to City Contract #2021-61 with Schmoyer Land Use Consulting LLC - $40,000

Addresses Council Goal:

7. COMPREHENSIVE PLANNING

Enhance the quality of life through adoption of programs, policies, and standards that manage growth while maintaining Redmond's small-town feel.

Report in Brief:

This item requests City Council approve a contract amendment with Schmoyer Land Use Consulting LLC, an increase in the amount of $40,000, and extend the duration to July 1, 2023, for continued review of land use applications.

Background:

The City has received over 300 land use applications in each of the last two years. This represents an increase of approximately 25% from previous years. The applications are of varying complexity and Planning Division staffing is limited. As such, the City enlisted land use professional assistance to help with reviewing applications to meet state-mandated timelines.

The City entered into contract #2021-61 in August 2021, with Schmoyer Land Use Consulting LLC, for $10,000 to help review and process generally more prescriptive land use applications. The $10,000 is about to be fully expended and the Agreement was to terminate in June 2022.

The contract with Smoyer Land Use Consulting needs to be amended for two primary reasons:

1. To account for the additional increase in land use applications received; and
2. To account for more limited capacity and a loss of 20% of the Planning Division staff within the last couple of weeks.

Discussion:

The responsibilities of Schmoyer Land Use Consulting include:

- Performing land use review for the Planning Division (e.g., lot line adjustments, partitions, conditional use permits, and other land use applications) as mutually agreed upon.
- Assisting in reviewing and processing land use applications to ensure that all federal, state and local codes are met.
- Ensuring compliance and development of necessary findings to align with the City's Development Code (Chapter 8).

Amending the existing contract will continue to leverage the experience of Schmoyer Land Use Consulting, and their availability, with existing and limited staff capacity in the Planning Division.

To continue the professional services of Schmoyer Land Use Consulting, the amendments to Contract 2021-61 are:

1. Increase the contracts from $10,000 to $50,000 for professional services.
2. Change the contract end date from June 2021 to June 30, 2023.

Fiscal Impact:

The additional $40,000 for this contract amendment is paid for by Planning Permit revenue; estimated to exceed the full year budget in the first half of the fiscal year. Additionally, no budget adjustment is necessary for this contract amendment due to overall personnel savings within the Community Development Fund.

Alternative Courses of Action:

1. Approve the amendment to Contract #2021-61.
2. Do not approve the contract amendment.
3. Take no action and request more information.

Recommendation / Suggested Motion:

"I move to authorize the City Manager to sign the amendment to Contract #2021-61 to increase the contact amount by $40,000 and to extend it to July 1, 2023, for continued professional services to assist the Planning Division in processing land use applications."

STAFF REPORT

DATE: December 14, 2021
TO: Redmond City Council
THROUGH: Keith Witcosky, City Manager
John Roberts, Deputy City Manager
FROM: Mike Caccavano, City Engineer
Steve Wilson, Civil Engineer II
SUBJECT: Yew Avenue Lift Station Design Contract (Project WW2202) - $98,000

Addresses Council Goal:

3. City Infrastructure – Preserve and enhance the City's infrastructure to balance population growth with necessary infrastructure.

Report in Brief:

This item requests City Council award a design contract to Anderson Perry and Associates, Inc. in the amount of $98,000.00 to design improvements to the SW Yew Avenue Lift Station.

Background:

The Yew Avenue Lift Station Improvement Project is on the Capital Improvement Plan for construction in Fiscal Year (FY) 2021/22. The work contemplated is located adjacent to the northbound Highway 97 onramp at the Yew Avenue Interchange (locator map attached). Improvements are needed for better design and to provide additional pumping capacity to handle increasing flows from the service area.

The Yew Avenue Lift Station serves the area between the Deschutes County Fairgrounds and Highway 97. The lift station does not meet current design standards as the wet well is not large enough. Moreover, there is also inadequate capacity in the case of a power failure. The lift station will also soon receive a substantial increase in flow from two new motels and build out of the Large Lot Industrial area.

Discussion:

The City procured design services per Oregon Revised Statutes Section 279C and State of Oregon Model Rules for engineering services for direct appointment. A cost proposal and scope of services were received and reviewed from Anderson Perry and Associates Inc. in the amount of $98,000.00. The proposal meets the City's scope and is within reason of the engineer's estimate of $95,000 for design services.

Fiscal Impact:

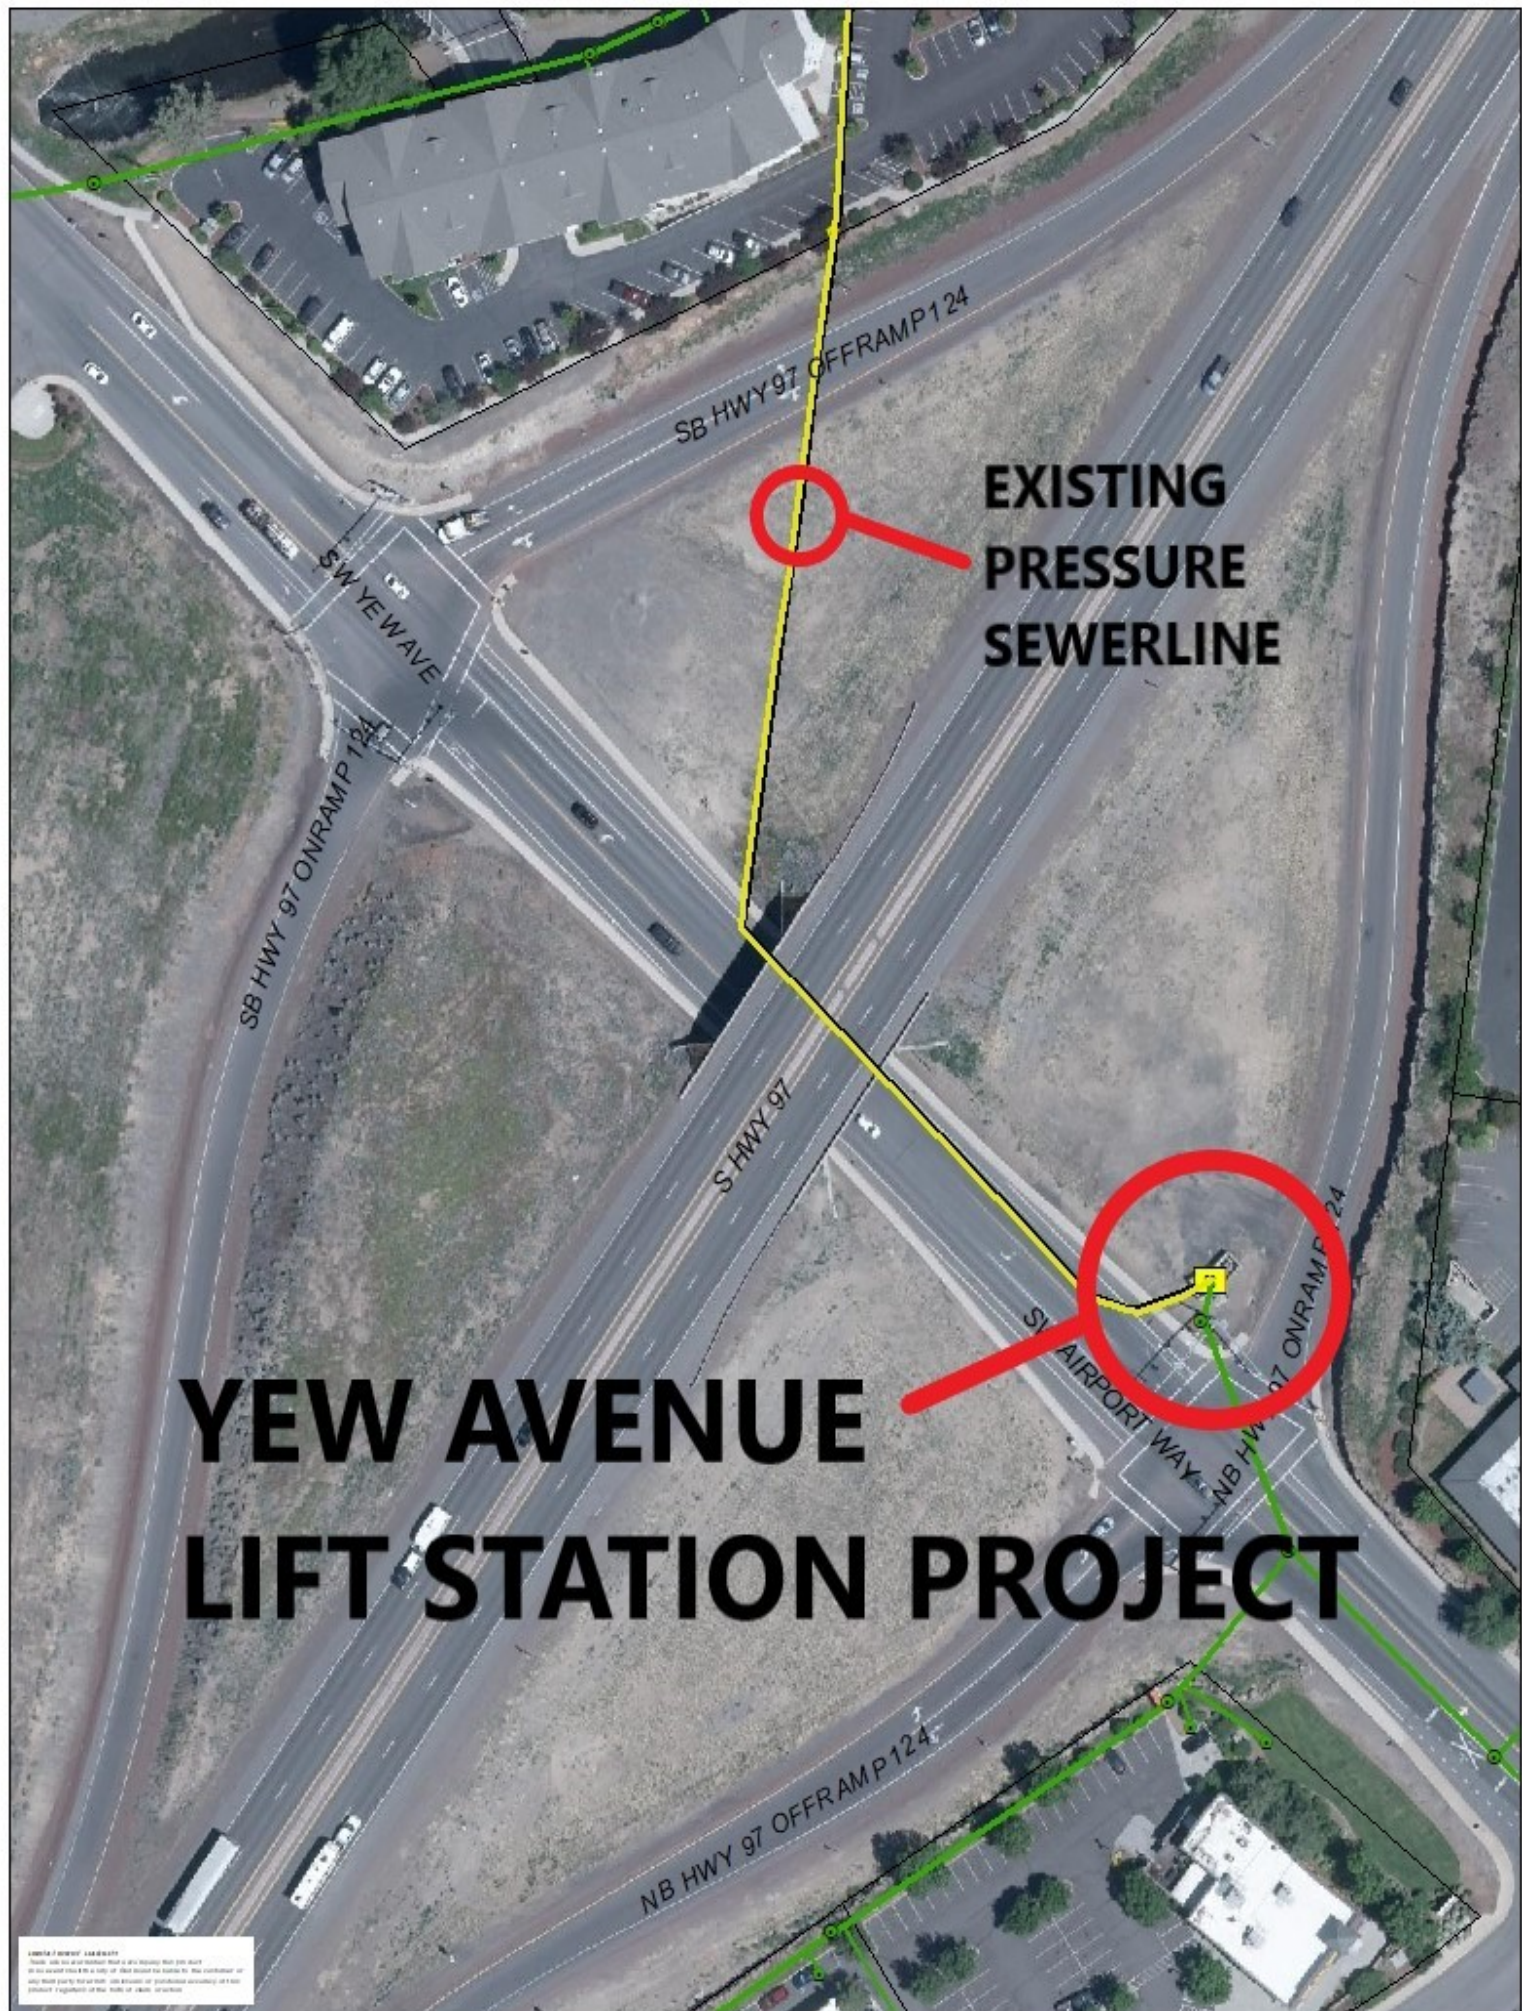

The FY 2021/22 budget (Wastewater - Infrastructure Maintenance Sub-Fund) includes $500,000 for the Yew Avenue Lift Station Improvement project. Additional funds will be needed in the FY 2022/23 budget once construction cost estimates are completed.

Alternative Courses of Action:

1. Approve design contract.
2. Do not approve design contract.
3. Request additional information.

Recommendation / Suggested Motion:

"I move to authorize the City Manager to sign a design contract with Anderson Perry and Associates, Inc. in the amount of $98,000.00."

The REDMOND HISTORIC LANDMARKS COMMISSION shall be composed of five members with interest, knowledge, or competence in historic preservation and who reside within the Redmond School District 2J boundary.

The purpose of the REDMOND HISTORIC LANDMARKS COMMISSION is to preserve and promote Redmond's history and culture by identifying, evaluating, and designating historic and cultural resources in the City of Redmond as landmarks; inform and educate the public on the historic and architectural significance of the designated landmarks; inform and educate the public on the value of preserving Redmond's historic and cultural resource; and solicit grants and other resources to help promote, advocate and undertake preservation projects in the City of Redmond.

What reasons do you have for wanting to be a member of this Commission?

As a relatively new resident of this hidden gem of a city I have been captivated by the friendliness of its people, integration of history within its architectural fabric, and its general culture. Its rapid and accelerating rate of growth poses a threat to these wonderful attributes as the pressures of development risk denigrating or destroying physical aspects of the local environment that play a crucial role in maintaining and enhancing the city's identity and foster its positive culture. I would like to contribute to efforts to preserve this overall physical and cultural legacy in a manner that recognizes and accommodates the legitimate pressures of growth.

Local history/historic preservation activities (publications, committee work, etc):
Do you have any experience in architecture, history, architectural history, planning, prehistoric and historic archeology, folklore, cultural anthropology, curation, conservation, and landscape architecture, or related disciplines. Please provide a brief outline of relevant experience and occupations.

Years ago in Seattle as the proud owner of a house built in 1927 I faced the need to maintain and update my residence while feeling the personal challenge to retain its original character in the process. In order to balance these requirements I learned to ignore expedient pro forma solutions that would have run roughshod over my goals of preserving my home's character in favor of a more reflective and creative approach that satisfied these goals in a cost-effective and somewhat hands-on manner. I became a devotee of architectural salvage and reuse businesses and took pride in keeping and repurposing artifacts from my home in a manner consistent with its fundamental character. As such, I believe that these experiences render me knowledgeable and empathetic in understanding and addressing the pressures faced by owners of current and potential landmark properties.

On a larger scale, my lengthy career in managing products and markets in the software industry is relevant to the activities of the Redmond Historic Landmarks Commission as well. I have substantial professional experience encompassing strategic, tactical and operational planning and management of software products and markets. These experiences have imbued me with the knowledge and skills to help the RHLC pursue its mission in a balanced and judicious manner within the overall context of Redmond's civic vision and goals.

What other boards / committees do you serve on?

I have been participating for the past several months in the activities of the RHLC. I have attended monthly Commission meetings, the homeowner-oriented Wood Windows Workshop sponsored by the RHLC, and the several hour, three-part educational and training workshop conducted by the State Historic Preservation Office. I have also agreed to distribute posters advertising the upcoming Redmond Heritage Walk with downtown businesses and at Music on the Green and Music in the Canyon events and will be helping out in various capacities during the walk itself.

Additionally, I was invited to participate in a half day professionally facilitated planning workshop for the Greater Redmond Historical Society and played an active role in that event (August 5, 2019).

Looking to the future, I would like to similarly invest my time and energy in support of the Redmond Downtown Urban Renewal Advisory Committee.

What contributions do you feel you can make to the Commission?

In addition to participating in the ongoing deliberations regarding questions about existing landmark modifications etc I believe that I can help the Commission:

- identify and evaluate new properties and resources of historic, cultural and architectural significance
- evangelize the goals and value of historic preservation within the greater Redmond community
- coordinate the activities of the RHLC with other City of Redmond commissions, especially regarding the interplay of historic and cultural preservation and economic development
- plan for addressing the significant upcoming challenges to the RHLC's mandate posed by the recent Oregon House Bill 2001 legislation that requires cities over 25,000 to allow duplexes, triplexes and quads in neighborhoods zoned for single-family housing.

RE: Planning Commission Application

Experience I have had

I became a licensed land surveyor in 1970. As such I was involved in many land use issues throughout my surveying career.

I am now retired, but was in the surveying business, off and on, for close to 30 years. My work experience included working for Sunriver Properties for approximately 10 years, 7 years under contract to do their survey work, and other 3 years as an employee. My employment included being in charge of their property development. In that capacity I dealt with the Deschutes County Planning Department when subdivision plats or other land use issues came up. As a SR employee I became involved in preparing the Deschutes County land use plan in the late 70s. At that time I oversaw the early stages of updating the zoning plan for Sunriver. I was on the architectural control committee while at Sunriver up until it was taken over by the HOA. I was on the early HOA board at Tillicum Village in Bend for several years.

I transferred to a similar planned unit development in Texas, and was in charge of the planning and development of that property for a time. While employed there, I was on 2 architectural control committees, and chaired an HOA.

Questions I have

I am 86 years of age. As such I need to know the amount of time involved in fulfilling the duties as a member of the planning commission. This would include issues that are normally dealt with at the meetings, time spent at meetings, and the approximant time involved in preparing for the meetings. Number of meetings per month. Number of years expected to fill a term.

If you think I would be an asset to the commission, I would request a sit down meeting with a member of the planning staff to get a determination as to whether I would be a good fit. I need to be fully aware of the time involved and whether my age constraints would hinder my ability to perform the duties required.
